

2007 All-CSFL Honors

The Collegiate Sprint Football League has announced its all-Conference teams for the 2007 season.

CSFL champion Navy had the most players on the list of first-team performers with a total of 12. Six of the Midshipmen first-teamers were on offense and six came from the defensive side of the ball. Cornell had a total of eight with five coming on the offensive list. Army and Penn each placed seven players on the first-team list, while Princeton had two. Army had two first-team players on offense and five on defense. Penn had four first-team stars on offense.

Navy's D.J. Green captured the league MVP award. The junior quarterback helped the Midshipmen finish unbeaten as they captured their fourth CSFL title in six years. Green threw for 853 yards and seven touchdowns and also ran for seven scores and racked up 179 yards on the ground.

Week 9 in Review

Navy captured its 25th outright CSFL championship with a dominating 41-13 win over Army. The Midshipmen put the game away early by jumping out to a 21-0 lead. The Navy defense forced six turnovers and accounted for 13 points in the contest. The Midshipmen finished with a perfect 6-0 record, while Army fell to 2-5.

Penn finished off a strong season with a 53-18 rout of Princeton. The Quakers put the game away early by jumping out to a 41-0 lead. Penn finishes the season at 4-2 overall and 3-1 in league play, good enough for second place in the CSFL. The Tigers finish the season at 0-6.

Offensive Player of the Week—Colin Dampier, Penn

The freshmen only completed nine passes Friday night against Princeton, but made them count in his first collegiate start. Dampier threw four touchdown passes as the Quakers finished off a season sweep of the Tigers. Dampier had TD passes of 14, 11 and four yards. He finished the season with five touchdown passes.

Defensive Player of the Week—Tyler Hawkins, Navy

The sophomore came up with a huge performance in Navy's win over Army. Hawkins recorded 14 tackles with one going for a loss of nine yards. Hawkins also forced and recovered a fumble, intercepted a pass and swatted away two other pass attempts. He was part of a Navy defense that held Army to minus-six yards rushing.

Special Teams Player of the Week—James Campbell, Navy

Campbell has had a strong season defensively, but his special teams work helped propel Navy to its title-clinching victory over Army. The junior returned five punts for a total of 51 yards, including a 20-yard return in the first quarter. He was a big reason why the Midshipmen enjoyed good field position throughout

Week 8 in Review

Navy won its first place showdown with Penn in convincing style as the Midshipmen routed the Quakers, 56-7. The victory clinched at least a share of the CSFL title for Navy. The powerful Navy offense racked up 26 first downs and 553 yards. The Midshipmen jumped out to a 21-0 lead in the second quarter, then broke the game open with 28 unanswered points in the final period. The Quakers suffered their first league loss of the season.

Cornell wrapped up its season with a 14-7 victory over Army. The Big Red jumped out to a 14-0 lead, then held off a late rally by the Black Knights. Army quarterback Abe Payne threw for 242 yards in the loss. The defending CSFL champions finish the season at 4-2 overall and 2-2 in league play.

Offensive Player of the Week—D.J. Green, Navy

The junior threw for two touchdowns and ran for two more in Navy's big win over Penn Friday night. Green completed 14-of-27 passes for 178 yards and also rushed for 68 yards on 13 carries. Green's touchdown passes came from 18 and 29 yards out in the second quarter as he helped the Midshipmen put the contest away early.

Defensive Player of the Week—Steven Wax, Army

Wax put together an incredible effort in Army's loss to Cornell. The senior linebacker recorded a game-high 12 tackles against the Big Red, with 1.5 going for a loss. Wax is the second-leading tackler in the CSFL and has been one of the top tacklers in the league through out the season.

Special Teams Player of the Week—David Reifenberg, Navy

The sophomore kicker continued his record-breaking pace in the Midshipmen's win over Penn. Reifenberg made all eight of his extra-point attempts and has now made 32 consecutive extra-points this season. His 32 extra-points are two shy of breaking the school record for most extra points in one season.

Week 7 in Review

Penn remained in the thick of the CSFL title race with a thrilling 35-28 overtime victory over Cornell. The Quakers took a 28-14 lead into the fourth quarter, but the Big Red stormed back with 14 unanswered points to force overtime. Rob Lombardi scored the game winning touchdown for Penn. Cornell has a first-and-goal on the two-yard line in the overtime session, but the Penn defense made four straight stops to seal the victory.

Navy picked up an easy victory at home as the Midshipmen routed Princeton, 83-0. Navy raised its record to 4-0 (2-0 in CSFL play) as 11 different players found the end zone. It was the second-highest point total in the program's history. The loss dropped the Tigers to 0-5 on the season.

Offensive Player of the Week—Rob Lombardi, Penn

The senior rushed for 109 yards and two touchdowns in Penn's victory over Cornell. Lombardi's first score came on a 58-yard run in the third quarter with the game tied 14-14. His second score came on the first possession of overtime. Lombardi also had one reception for 21 yards and had two pass breakups on defense, including one on the last play of the game that secured the victory.

Defensive Player of the Week—Gage O'Connell, Penn

The freshman linebacker made a huge impact during Penn's overtime victory. O'Connell had eight tackles on the night, including six solo stops. He also forced a fumble that helped the Quakers get past the Big Red. O'Connell now has 30 tackles (13 solo) on the season.

Special Teams Player of the Week—David Reifenberg, Navy

The sophomore had a perfect evening in Navy's victory over Princeton. Reifenberg connected on all 11 extra-point attempts and both field goal tries (27 and 28 yards). He has now made seven field goals on the year, pushing him into fourth place on the program's all-time single-season list.

Week 6 in Review

Penn came up with an impressive victory at West Point as the Quakers defeated Army, 13-12. Penn trailed, 12-6, with 10:04 remaining in the fourth quarter, but Clarke Armatis hauled in a 34-yard touchdown pass from Michael D'Angelo for the winning score. It was only the fifth win for the Quakers over the Black Knights in program history.

Cornell bounced back from its Pride Bowl loss to Navy with a 34-0 shutout over Princeton. Both teams played without their regular quarterbacks throughout the contest. Cornell's offense didn't skip a beat as the Big Red jumped out to a 21-0 lead at the half. The Big Red defense collected seven sacks on the night while the Cornell offense line did not allow the Tigers to collect a sack.

Offensive Player of the Week—Mike D'Angelo, Penn

The junior quarterback accounted both scores in Penn's victory over Army. D'Angelo opened the scoring with a one-yard touchdown run in the second quarter. On the drive, D'Angelo was 4-for-5 passing for 58 yards. In the fourth quarter, with the Quakers trailing 12-6, D'Angelo led his team on a nine play, 67-yard drive that he capped with a 34-yard touchdown pass to Clarke Armatis. D'Angelo finished 13-for-25 for 192 yards and a TD.

Defensive Player of the Week—Sam Biddle, Penn

The freshman linebacker was a driving force behind a defense that held Army to 12 points, its lowest total of the season. Biddle registered 12 tackles (seven solo) and forced a fumble in the first quarter as Army was driving. He stripped Army quarterback Robert Miner at the Penn three-yard line, keeping the game scoreless in the first quarter.

Special Teams Player of the Week—Michael Brennan, Cornell

The junior wide receiver made a big impact on special teams in Cornell's victory over Princeton. Brennan returned three punts for 42 yards, including a long of 21, and returned one kickoff 21 yards. He kept the Big Red in excellent field position for much of the contest as the Big Red got back on the winning track.

Week 5 in Review

Navy snapped Cornell's eight-game winning streak and took the early lead in the CSFL race with a 35-14 victory over the Big Red in the Pride Bowl. It was the 300th victory all-time for the 62-year-old program. The win also made the Midshipmen 7-0 all-time in Pride Bowl play. Navy led, 14-0, after one half then put the game away with a pair of quick touchdowns in the second half. Over 3,500 fans were in attendance.

Princeton chose to forfeit its game against Army Friday night due to an insufficient number of healthy players.

Offensive Player of the Week—D.J. Green, Navy

The senior quarterback was in command of the Navy offense as the Midshipmen rolled past Cornell in the Pride Bowl. Green completed 12-of-22 passes for 185 yards with a touchdown pass and did not throw an interception. Green also ran for a touchdown in the third quarter on a one-yard sneak.

Defensive Player of the Week—Tyler Hawkins, Navy

The sophomore linebacker put together a dominating performance as he earned Pride Bowl MVP honors. Hawkins picked up a career high 17 tackles in the victory over Cornell. Eight of the tackles were solo efforts with 1.5 stops coming for a combined loss of two yards.

Special Teams Player of the Week—John Mackintosh, Cornell

The freshman punter had a busy day during his team's loss to Navy. Mackintosh was forced to punt ten times during the game. While his average was 35.6 yards, he was able to pin the Midshipmen inside the 20-yard line with one of his punts. He also booted a 51-yard punt in the loss.

Week 4 in Review

Penn evened its record to 1-1 by routing Princeton, 60-7. The Tigers tied the game at 7-7 when Lon Johnson hauled in a 64-yard touchdown pass. However, the Quakers racked up 53 straight points and held the Princeton to 178 total yards and picked off three passes. The Quakers rolled up 560 yards on the night.

Army suffered a hard fought, 19-13 overtime loss to the Wagner JV squad. The Black Knights took a 13-6 lead, but Wagner tied the game with just over two minutes to play before winning on its first possession of overtime. Turnovers proved costly for the Black Knights as they committed seven on the afternoon. The loss dropped Army to 1-2.

Offensive Player of the Week—Rob Lombardi, Penn

The senior had an outstanding game for the Quakers in Penn's victory over Princeton. Lombardi was a force both rushing the ball and receiving out of the backfield. He rushed for 100 yards on only five carries. His longest rush of the day was a 58-yard carry that resulted in a touchdown. Lombardi also had a pair of receptions for 42 yards. His longest reception of the day was a 35-yard touchdown grab.

Defensive Player of the Week—Thomas Russell, Army

The senior put together an incredible individual performance in Army's loss to Wagner JV. Russell recorded three sacks in the contest to go along with his six total tackles. His three sacks added up to losses of 22 yards, and four of his tackles also went for losses totaling 26 yards. Russell also forced a fumble in the game.

Special Teams Player of the Week—Rob Lombardi, Penn

Lombardi stole the show on special teams as well as on offense during Penn's victory Friday night. With the game tied at 7-7, Lombardi took a kickoff return 84 yards for a touchdown for what proved to be the game winning score. Lombardi also had one punt return for 17 yards.

Week 3 in Review

Navy picked up a 30-17 win over Army in the Allegiance Bowl. In the first of two meetings this season between the two longtime rivals, Navy rallied from an early 14-0 deficit by scoring 30 of the next 33 points. The Navy defense forced three straight turnovers after falling behind in the opening quarter. The Midshipmen are now 2-0.

Cornell ran its winning streak to eight games with a 49-26 victory over Princeton. The Big Red jumped out to a 21-6 lead in the first half and the Tigers were never able to recover. The Cornell defense picked off four passes on the night and limited Princeton to 24 yards rushing. It was Cornell's ninth straight victory over Princeton.

Offensive Player of the Week—Enrique Harris, Navy

The junior ran for a career-high 160 yards on 24 carries in Navy's win over Army in the Allegiance Bowl. Harris also scored a touchdown from 47 yards out in the fourth quarter to give the Midshipmen a 24-17 lead. Harris was named the Allegiance Bowl MVP.

Defensive Player of the Week—Cameron Johnson, Cornell

The senior linebacker was the driving force behind the Big Red defense in the team's 49-26 win over Princeton. Johnson picked off two passes and returned them for a total of 15 yards. Johnson also recorded five tackles with one going for a loss as he frustrated the Princeton offense throughout the night.

Special Teams Player of the Week—David Reifenberg, Navy

The sophomore kicker came up big in Navy's Allegiance Bowl victory over Army. Reifenberg went 3-for-3 in extra-point attempts and 3-for-4 in field goal tries during Navy's 30-17 win. He made field goal kicks come from 35, 32 and 27 yards. Reifenberg's last two field goals accounted for the final points of the game.

Week 2 in Review

Cornell opened up its defense of its CSFL title with a 23-18 victory over Penn. The Quakers jumped out to a 6-0 lead in the first quarter and led, 6-3, at the half. The game was tied at 16 early in the fourth quarter before a five-yard touchdown run by running back Matt Malleo put Cornell ahead to stay. The Big Red defense came up with two interceptions, while the offense racked up 365 yards.

Offensive Player of the Week—Matt Malleo, Cornell

The junior did a little bit of everything for the Big Red on Friday night as it defeated Penn, 23-18. In the first sprint football game of his career, Malleo carried the ball 13 times for 52 yards and a touchdown, caught three passes for 105 yards and a touchdown, and returned three kick offs for 54 yards, racking up 211 all-purpose yards on the evening. He also scored the game-winning touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Defensive Player of the Week—Andrew Feigenbaum, Penn

The junior defensive back spearheaded a Penn defense that more than held its own against defending CSFL champion Cornell. Feigenbaum collected 14 tackles for the Quakers, with eight coming unassisted. He also played well in the secondary as he and his teammates went up against the high-powered Big Red passing attack.

Special Teams Player of the Week—John Mackintosh, Cornell

The senior came up with an impressive punting performance for the Big Red on Friday night. Mackintosh averaged 26.4 yards per punt, but had two punts downed inside the 20. Mackintosh also had a game saving play late in the fourth quarter. After one of his punts was blocked into the end zone, Mackintosh pushed the ball over the end line to stop a Penn touchdown that would have tied the game.

Week 1 in Review

Army picked up an impressive win on opening night as the Black Knights cruised past FDU-Madison JV, 36-0. Army put the game away early by scoring three touchdowns in the opening period. It was 33-0 at the half as the Black Knights added two more scores in the second period. Wesley Pritchett caught two touchdown passes and the Army defense shut down the FDU-Madison attack throughout the night.

Navy opened its season with an easy 47-8 win over Frostburg State JV. It was a total team effort by the Midshipmen as they rolled up 466 yards of offense while holding Frostburg State to 36 yards. After Frostburg State took an 8-6 lead in the first quarter, Navy scored on five straight possessions to put the game away. The Navy defense recorded 10 tackles for a loss for 77 yards.

Cornell, Penn, and Princeton did not play this week.

Offensive Player of the Week—Robert Miner, Army

The junior quarterback came up with an impressive performance in the Black Knights' win over FDU-Madison JV. Miner threw three touchdown passes. His longest was for 49 yards. He also threw TD passes from 28 and nine yards out.

Defensive Player of the Week—Galen Landis, Navy

The junior defensive end was a dominating force in Navy's opening night victory. Landis made two-and-a-half tackles for a combined loss of 16 yards in the Midshipmen's 47-8 rout of Frostburg State JV. Landis also recorded one-and-a-half sacks. He finished the contest with four tackles.

Special Teams Player of the Week—David Reifenberg, Navy

The sophomore made 2-of-3 field goal attempts and 6-of-7 extra-point chances in Navy's season-opening 47-8 rout of Frostburg State JV on Sunday. Reifenberg connected on field goals from 45 yards and 36 yards in the fourth quarter. His 46-yard field goal was a career best.

Season Preview

Last year, Cornell broke Navy's stranglehold on the CSFL title and came away with its first championship since 1986. Now, do for an encore? It's just one of the many intriguing storylines heading into the 2007 season. The first full weekend of Spring is September 14th. Here is a look at what to expect in 2007.

Cornell head coach Terry Cullen will have his work cut out for him in the Big Red's quest for a repeat. Gone are 23 of last year's starters, and only four starters return on defense. However, there is still plenty of talent to keep Cornell in contention. Jun Dentes will once again lead the way on offense after an impressive 2006 campaign. His ability to create opportunities with his passing will give opposing defenses headaches. The biggest question will be at running back with the loss of Mike Fullowan allowed only four sacks last year, but will need to replace three starters this season. The linebackers should be the strength of the team. CSFL Player of the Year Jason Remillard.

For the second time in three years, Navy will have a new coach at the helm. Former player Major Jake Jenkins has enough talent to lead the team back to Annapolis this fall. There will be 31 letterwinners (11 starters) returning. D.J. Green takes over at quarterback and will be supported by a talented backfield. Richard Engel and Enrique Harris are back after piling up 993 yards and 12 touchdowns last year. Mike Fullowan, the league running back in 2006, churned out 659 yards on 115 carries with nine scores. Three starters also return on the offensive line. The biggest holes to fill will be at linebacker with the loss of Ryan Engle and Danny Davis. However, there will be plenty of talent to fill those spots and in the secondary.

Army will also be led by a new head coach with former offensive coordinator Joe Sessa taking over. Sessa will need several starters to lead the team on offense. Robert Miner returns under center, but with the loss of Nate Navarro, the Black Knights will need another big year. Justin Abbatacola. Justin Astroth will anchor the offensive line in an offense which has always had one of the best running backs in the league. Linebacker Steven Wax and defensive back Barrett Rife are the top returning defenders for the Black Knights.

After finishing 2-4 last fall, Penn looks to get back into contention in 2007. However, the Quakers suffered major graduation losses this year in a row. Gone are quarterback Mike Loguidice and running back J.T. Hutchinson. Michael D'Angelo, a standout at wide receiver, will also be missed.

seasons, will likely move to quarterback this year. There are also holes to fill up front. One of the best CSFL newcomers on c was linebacker Mike McMullen. He returns this year and will be looking to match or even surpass his 44 tackles from a year may go through some growing pains early, but will have to learn quickly with a trip to Cornell on the schedule to start the se:

Two years ago, Princeton finally snapped a losing streak that lasted for years. However, the Tigers suffered through another y and second-year coach Thomas Cocuzza is hoping the program will begin to turn the corner. The offense will get a big boost junior Lon Johnson, who finished with a league-high 43 receptions for 669 yards last fall. The key will be giving his quarter Zach McKinney led the defense with a league-high 46 tackles a year ago, but the Tigers were vulnerable to the big play all se corrected in 2007 for Princeton to make some noise this season.

The season will be packed with a host of critical head-to-head matchups. The schedule will also feature the annual Pride Bow Bowl. The Pride Bowl will take place on Sunday, October 7th at Kean College. Navy will once again participate, but after fo facing Army, Cornell will be the Midshipmen's opponent. Navy will face Army in the Allegiance Bowl in what will be the fi between the Black Knights and Midshipmen this fall.
